

you did it

Posted originally on the Ad Astra :: Star Trek Fanfiction Archive at <http://www.adastrafanfic.com/works/1483>.

Rating:	General Audiences
Archive Warning:	No Archive Warnings Apply
Category:	Gen
Fandom:	Star Trek: Prodigy
Relationship:	Rok-Tahk & Gwyndala
Character:	Rok-Tahk , Gwyndala
Additional Tags:	PRO: S01E08 Time Amok , Friendship
Language:	English
Series:	Part 16 of fan flashworks , Part 22 of inking it out
Stats:	Published: 2024-04-02 Words: 173 Chapters: 1/1

you did it

by lilly_c

Summary

“It was your instructions.”

Notes

Spoiler for Time Amok. Post-ep add on, reference to isolation. Written for the fan_flashworks prompt leak. Any mistakes are my own and unintentional.

“It was your instructions,” Rok-Tahk said to Gwyn when she joined her in the bunk room to keep the younger crew member company, which still had the scattered remnants of the objects she used to represent her missing friends to help her feel less isolated.

“It was a team effort but we’ll let you take all of the credit fixing the anomaly and bringing all of us back to the correct time.”

“When I was reading the schematics for the warp matrix and then reading quantum science, computer engineering and maths, I realised that there was some things I still didn’t understand.”

“What things?” Gwyndala asked, curious that Rok-Tahk was claiming to have some gaps in her knowledge.

“I found several reports written by an engineer, B’Elanna Torres, she goes into extensive details for what to do when fixing leaks with deuterium, dilithium and warp plasma.”

“Maybe I could read those with you, we could learn something together.”

Rather than speaking, Rok-Tahk hugged Gwyndala, grateful to have her friends around her once again.

Please drop by the archive and comment to let the author know if you enjoyed their work!