

It's Got to Be Perfect

Posted originally on the Ad Astra :: Star Trek Fanfiction Archive at <http://www.adastrafanfic.com/works/1831>.

Rating:	General Audiences
Archive Warning:	No Archive Warnings Apply
Category:	Gen
Fandom:	Star Trek: Voyager
Character:	Seven of Nine , Kathryn Janeway
Additional Tags:	Drabble
Language:	English
Stats:	Published: 2024-09-18 Words: 100 Chapters: 1/1

It's Got to Be Perfect

by Cherrywoodslane

Summary

Her perfect world had been shattered and stolen from her, now she was left alone in a world with too many colours.

Her world had been green, always glowing green. Seven of Nine remembered nothing else. She didn't want too. Who or what she was before was irrelevant, wasn't it? Captain Janeway was trying to make her less sure.

She took away the voices and the world of green. There was silence in her head and too many colours in the world. Captain Janeway had made her flawed and inefficient.

"You'll adapt," Captain Janeway promised. She doesn't want too, Seven doesn't wish to become imperfect and corrupted by being an individual. Perfection that was what she wanted, more than what she needed it.

Please drop by the archive and comment to let the author know if you enjoyed their work!