

Drops in slow motion

Posted originally on the Ad Astra :: Star Trek Fanfiction Archive at <http://www.adastrafanfic.com/works/955>.

Rating:	General Audiences
Archive Warning:	No Archive Warnings Apply
Category:	Gen
Fandom:	Star Trek: Voyager
Relationship:	Kathryn Janeway & Chakotay
Character:	Chakotay , Kathryn Janeway
Additional Tags:	Coda , Drabble , Episode Tag , Friendship , Near-Death Experiences
Language:	English
Series:	Part 3 of summer mini challenge , Part 3 of inking it out
Stats:	Published: 2019-01-23 Words: 100 Chapters: 1/1

Drops in slow motion

by lilly_c

Summary

Being somewhere familiar often coaxed her into opening up while allowing her to retreat into vacation mode for a short time.

Notes

Spoiler for Coda. Post ep missing scene, written for the vacation prompt on my summer mini challenge table. The title is from Lake By The Ocean by Maxwell. Any mistakes are my own and unintentional.

It was always a midnight sail on Lake George or sitting under the old oak tree at her parents farm, this was her way of coping with the harder days of navigating through the Delta Quadrant. Being somewhere familiar often coaxed her into opening up while allowing her to retreat into vacation mode for a short time.

Taking a sip of synthetic champagne, Kathryn said, "I honestly thought that I was going to die several times."

"When the alien tried to convince you it was someone else?"

Kathryn nodded. "Yeah."

Clinking his glass against hers, he said, "To being alive."

Please drop by the archive and comment to let the author know if you enjoyed their work!