

Where I'm Home

Posted originally on the Ad Astra :: Star Trek Fanfiction Archive at <http://www.adastrafanfic.com/works/967>.

Rating:	General Audiences
Archive Warning:	No Archive Warnings Apply
Fandom:	Star Trek: Voyager
Relationship:	Kathryn Janeway/Chakotay
Character:	Kathryn Janeway , Chakotay
Additional Tags:	Episode Tag , Established Relationship(s)
Language:	English
Stats:	Published: 2013-07-27 Words: 125 Chapters: 1/1

Where I'm Home

by lilly_c

Summary

“Your quarters are more homelier than mine.”

Notes

Spoiler for Demons. I've always wondered who's quarters Kathryn and Chakotay shared during this ep. A slightly shippy drabble. Any mistakes are my own and unintentional.

Chakotay couldn't help but smirk at the way Kathryn unceremoniously kicked her boots off in the middle of his living room. “Make yourself at home,” he teased.

Poking her tongue out at him. “Oh I intend to. By the way, your bedroom is a mess,” she said putting her feet up on the coffee table.

Shaking his head, “This is going to be a nightmare,” he muttered sitting next to her.

Kathryn glanced at him, instantly knowing what he was thinking. “Your quarters are more homelier than mine, and Tuvok did say we had to conserve as much energy as possible.”

“I remember the last time we shared a living space, neither of us had no energy left to conserve.”

Kathryn sniggered. “When in Rome.”

Please drop by the archive and comment to let the author know if you enjoyed their work!